

AGREEMENT

This Agreement is not a legally binding document. It testifies only to the hope that You (person I appreciate greatly) and the city of Glasgow (shared womb and unbound light that carries one through) shall not dissipate as soon as I leave you. And, if you do, it will be spirited, beautiful, melodramatic. This contract testifies that we have been in this place and that if, when, I get too frightened by it all, Glàsgow shall be here, patient, like the grand home that it is. I don't expect it (or yourself for that matter) to remain unmoving, of course. I hope it can recognise me the way it has been recognising me every day. That if I come home a stranger on a memorial park bench will know my name, that we will wink, that I will look into your eyes, and recognise You. You are miraculous. I will miss you.

In witness whereof, the Parties have duly affixed their signatures.
